

What can you do now to make your funeral arrangements easier for your family and loved ones?

Disposition

If you know what type of disposition is appropriate for you: tell someone/everyone, write it down or even make pre-arrangements.

Vital Statistics

No type of disposition can occur without a signed death certificate.

This is your loved ones' most important document.

Pre-fill it out to ensure it is accurate and to prevent estate issues.

Designee

If you are single, have no children or fear your wishes may not be honored, designate someone. Especially if your wish is to be cremated.

Pre-Arrangements

They can be as simple as just getting your wishes written down on paper at a local Funeral Home.

Or, you can give your family the gift of fully pre-funding your funeral arrangements.
